California College of Natural Healing Arts

FUNDAMENTAL PREMISE OF CHIROPRACTIC

Professional aspirations in the field of Healing call today for a high degree of humanitarian impulse. Alone among the professional healing services, Chiropractic affirms that LIFE is an expression of Universal Intelligence, and therefore, the problem of ill health should be viewed from more than the materialistic standpoint. By this fundamental premise Chiropractic sounds the key-note of its humanitarian service.

AIM AND PURPOSE OF CALIFORNIA COLLEGE OF NATURAL HEALING ARTS

How to live in closer harmony with the laws of Nature is the conscious or unconscious quest of every seeker after Health. The Doctor of Chiropractic can aid in that quest, for "doctor" means "teacher" and the Science and the Philosophy of Chiropractic provide the knowledge to teach. For the man or woman of high ideals no finer field of expression can be found than in the practice of Chiropractic with the satisfaction of helping mankind through natural healing methods to achieve its goal of healthful living.

PROFESSIONAL OWNERSHIP

California College of Natural Healing Arts is an institution owned and operated by members of the profession for the purpose of providing the prospective doctor with a Chiropractic education which will be conducive to leadership in Chiropractic advancement.

PROFESSIONAL FACULTY

Professional recognition, social acceptance and economic security require emphasis in character, training and adaptability. The Faculty of California College of Natural Healing Arts, composed entirely of licensed doctors and college graduates, is deeply conscious of this responsibility to the student.

DURATION OF COURSE AND MATRICULATION REQUIREMENTS

The course conforms to the California Chiropractic Act requiring a minimum of 2400 sixty-minute hours in a period of eighteen to twenty-four months of resident instruction (three to four school years of six months each, divided into three-month periods). A diploma signifying High School graduation is required for matriculation.

ADJUNCTS TO CHIROPRACTIC AT NO ADDITIONAL COST

In addition to the state requirements, instruction is given at no extra cost in the application of electro-therapy, colono-therapy, radionic analysis, and various other physio-therapeutic methods which this college lists as natural adjuncts to Chiropractic in analyzing and treating the sick. The well equipped student treatment department of the college permits valuable instruction in actual practical application of Chiropractic and physio-therapy through the large number of patients who seek for health in this clinical type of service.

ACADEMIC AND PRACTICAL DAY AND EVENING INSTRUCTION

Two separate academic divisions permit day and evening classes. Day school, 8:30-4:00 p. m.; evening school 6:00-10:00 p. m.; Student Treatments 8:30 a. m.-8:30 p. m., Monday through Friday. Senior "Internes" may elect to serve also, 8:30 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. Saturdays in the Treatment Department.

ENROLLMENT AND SCHOLASTIC REQUIREMENTS

Enrollment may be effected at any time since it is the policy of the college not to hold a student responsible for passing grades during the first three month period or fraction thereof. Grades for each three month period thereafter must be maintained above 75% and final examinations before graduation must average 75% for the student to receive the degree, Doctor of Chiropractic.

HONORARY DEGREES

In addition to the degree Doctor of Chiropractic, the honorary degrees—Philosopher of Chiropractic and Master of Chiropractic—may be conferred by the Directors of California College of Natural Healing Arts upon students who are graduated with outstanding academic or practical ability.

ENTIRE ABSENCE OF TUITION CONTRACT

A unique feature of California College of Natural Healing Arts is the entire absence of contractual obligation upon the part of the enrolling student. A fee of $20.00 is charged to cover incidentals of matriculation; thereafter, the student pays tuition on a monthly basis while undergoing instruction, but is under no obligation to the college to complete payments of full tuition, if for any reason the student should find it necessary to discontinue instruction.

INDIVIDUALIZED INSTRUCTION

Enrollment is limited so that individualized instruction may be given to the future Doctor of Chiropractic and in order that quality may not be sacrificed for quantity. A personal interview is arranged for each applicant before acceptance.

TUITION SAVING THROUGH ADVANCED CREDITS

Many applicants for enrollment present advanced credits from universities in which case the value of hours allotted for these credits will be deducted from the total price of tuition. In many instances this amounts to an appreciable saving.

INVITATION TO VISIT THE COLLEGE

The Directors of California College of Natural Healing Arts prefer to maintain advertising costs at a minimum so that the student may benefit from a higher type of instruction at lower tuition rates. Therefore, no expensive brochure is available. The prospective student is urged to visit the college and to receive first hand impressions of the facilities of the college and, to become acquainted with the members of the faculty and of the student body. There is no obligation.

BOND OF INTEREST BETWEEN COLLEGE MANAGEMENT STUDENT BODY AND ALUMNI

The Directors of California College of Natural Healing Arts, each of whom is also a member of the faculty, have successfully fostered a spirit of friendship and mutual interest between the faculty and the student body to the end that the Alumni, the Faculty and the Undergraduates are joined in a common fellowship promoting the professional and fraternal welfare of all in the broad field of Chiropractic.

AIM AND PURPOSE OF CALIFORNIA COLLEGE OF NATURAL HEALING ARTS ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association of this college is keenly interested in the advancement of professional standards. Each member is justifiably proud of a diploma from this college, and in the resulting affiliation with other doctors who may lay claim to the same distinction but not for the purpose of fostering insularity. As evidence of its desire to discourage factionalism in the field, California College of Natural Healing Arts Alumni Association is an active member of the Co-ordinated Council of Drugless Associations composed of seven representative organizations pledged to the promotion of professional unity and integrity.

GRADUATE DIVISION

An advanced course leading to the degree Doctor of Naturopathy is available for the doctor who may desire to practice in a state where Naturopathic license is available. This course conforms to the requirements of the state in which the doctor expects to practice and is in the nature of graduate instruction. Pre-requisite for this degree is a state license to practice any other healing art. A majority of the faculty members have been graduated in Naturopathy and are competent to instruct the candidate for this degree.

POST-GRADUATE STUDY

Evening Post-Graduate courses are available from time to time in order that the licensed practitioners may keep abreast of new ideas in the practice of Chiropractic and Naturopathy. Certificates of proficiency may be issued for this type of instruction. The Directors of California College of Natural Healing Arts are always ready to co-operate with doctors who desire to improve their ability to understand and to provide the public's need—Health through harmony with Nature.

VISITING STAFF

This college is fortunate in having many friends who represent all branches of the Healing Arts. These Doctors welcome the opportunity to discuss their specialties with the student body. In this manner the student receives valuable added instruction and is able to develop a broader understanding of the intricate functions which place the combined professions of Healing in the forefront of human services.
